Who is Jesus? This question has been asked for more than 2,000 years. Of course, people are not shy in giving their opinion on this question either. Was he simply a good man, a prophet, a revolutionary, a teacher? Was he delusional, crazy, or mentally ill? Or was he exactly who He claimed to be, God in the flesh? Beginning on March 12th and concluding on Easter Sunday (April 16th) we will be answering this question by looking at the very words of Jesus Himself in his seven "I AM" statements found in the gospel of John. This will be a great opportunity to invite your friends and associates who need to know Jesus personally.

When I went to Israel last year, one of my most memorable experiences came when I visited a place called Caesarea Philippi (ancient Paneas and modern day Banias). It is in Northern Israel close to the Syrian border. The area around Caesarea Philippi has tremendous historical significance. Even before Abraham and his family entered the promised land this site had been used to worship many false and pagan gods. By the time Jesus took his disciples there on a winter retreat right before his crucifixion, it had become a huge center of pagan worship.

If you go there today you will find rich green vegetation in a beautiful picturesque setting. How does it get so green? There are many underground streams that come up to form the great "Jordan River" which flows down through the heart of Israel. The water comes from Mount Herman which sits up high in the background. Mount Herman is the tallest mountain in Israel and in Syria which stands 9100 feet above sea level. Often you will see the mountain peak covered in white because of the snow fall. There is actually a snow ski resort up top.

But there is also something else that you will notice at Caesarea Philippi. There is a rock structure with a massive cave. If you go into the cave you will see a very large opening at the top. In the day of Jesus, water would gush out from this large opening. It was called the "Cave of Pan." Pan was a pagan god, known as the "Goat god", a "god of fertility" among other things. People would come to this cave and see the water gushing out of its mouth and just assume that it was a gift from "Pan." Therefore, this very site had been known for cultic and pagan worship. Later, an earthquake would stop the flow of water from its mouth and underground streams would then carry the water underneath the structure to form the Jordan River. Why do I share all of this?

This was the setting of Jesus and his disciples in Matthew 16 where Jesus asked them, "Who do people say that I am?" Some answered Elijah, some answered John the Baptist and some answered Jeremiah. But then Jesus looked at Peter and asked, "Who do you say that I am?" Do you remember what Peter said? "You are the Christ, the Son of the Living God." With the backdrop of pagan worship and idolatry in the background, Peter changed history with his statement. "There is only One God! And He is living! And Jesus is that God." This is the heartbeat behind the seven "I Am" statements.

We are going to have a marvelous and worshipful time as we approach Easter. My prayer for our church is that Jesus would be known in our community, workplaces, family, homes, and hearts. May our beliefs move from head knowledge to transformational heart knowledge. And may our understanding of who Jesus really is change the way we think, live, and love! Lets make certain we tell as many people as possible the truth about Jesus before we go to meet Him!!

It is my honor to be your Pastor. I love you with all my heart!!

Pastor Scott
